BLASTS IGNITE SHIP KILLING 17 OF CREW

FIREMEN SAVE WIFE OF CAPTAIN FROM BLAZING OIL POOL

SHIP OF SUN OIL COMPANY SHATTERED BY TERRIFIC EXPLOSIONS AT DOCKS

Marcus Hook, Pa., Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Seventeen men were killed when the Sun Oil company's tanker Bidwell was shattered by a series of terrific explosions today at the Trainer, Pa., docks, officials of the company announced.

Company officials said all those aboard the ship at the time of the explosions have been accounted for.

Two of those reported missing earlier in the day were located uninjured. The others missing were found and identified among the dead taken from the wrecked vessel.

Thirteen of the dead were members of the Sun Oil company's crew and the remaining four were members of the yard cleaning gang who were working in one of the emptied oil tanks, where the explosion occurred.

Three other men and one woman, wife of the tanker's captain, lay critically injured in the Chester hospital.

Members of the crew and 10 stevedores hired for the work were cleaning the Bidwell's tanks when one blast at 12 a. m. shook the forward tank, and the bow of the tanker burst into flames.

The bulkheads became red hot, and the flames spread to the stern.

Three more blasts came in quick succession, all in the forward tank. The other five tanks did not explode.

Mrs. River, the captain's wife, was rescued by firemen who found her in a pool of flaming oil. She is believed dying at Chester hospital. Her husband had become separated from her. He got ashore and was in the Crosier hospital, suffering severe burns.

LA FOLLETTE WINS INITIAL SUCCESS IN RELIEF BILL FIGHT

Washington, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Battling "Young Bob" La Follette of Wisconsin today won an initial success in his fight for direct federal aid to the jobless.

The senate formally agreed to take up the bill sponsored by La Follette and Senator Costigan, Dem., Colo., providing $375,000,000 for relief work. The two had bombarded the senate with hours of oratory and hundreds of pages of documentary evidence in urging that their bill be considered.

Conservative democrats have offered a substitute measure providing more money—$750,000,000—but it would be used only for road construction, and relief loans to states. Administration republicans are opposed to both the original bill and the substitute.

Free Hoarded Money is Plea for Better Times

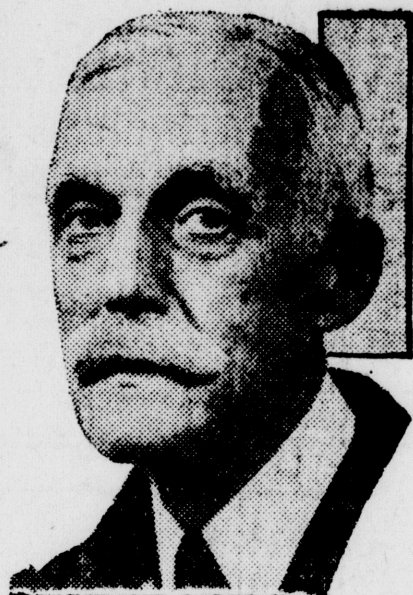

Washington, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Treasury and federal reserve officials asserted today that "prosperity will be back" if the nation answers President Hoover's call to put "slacker dollars" to work.

ANDREW W. MELLON

MILLS TO SUCCEED MELLON, NEW BRITISH ENVOY, AS U. S. SECRETARY OF TREASURY

Washington, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—President Hoover has selected Andrew W. Mellon to be ambassador at London, and Mellon has accepted.

He succeeds Charles G. Dawes, who resigned to become president of the reconstruction finance corporation, President Hoover's chief weapon in his campaign against the depression.

Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, will be advanced to full cabinet rank, the White House announced. Mills for some time has shouldered much of the actual burden of the treasury administration, and is looked upon by many here as the moving spirit in treasury policies.

Mills' nomination will be sent to the senate as soon as Mellon officially resigns to take up the ambassadorship to Great Britain.

The selection of Mellon for the London post removes from the cabinet one of its most picturesque and mysterious figures, and gives the court of St. James such an American ambassador as it probably never has seen before.

For one thing, Mellon is an old man—how old, none but his intimates know for certainty. His official biography in the congressional directory says he will be 77 in March. Who's Who adds three years to that.

For another, he is one of the richest men in the United States.

His appointment will quash the attempt of Rep. Patman, Dem., Tex., to have him ousted from the cabinet. Patman some weeks ago rose in the house and impeached Mellon because of his vast industrial connections—connections which Patman charged violated an old law. No one expected these proceedings to get far, but they will be dropped now, as the law applies only to secretaries of the treasury.

Conservative democrats have offered a substitute measure providing more money—$750,000,000—but it would be used only for road construction, and relief loans to states. Administration republicans are opposed to both the original bill and the substitute.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Business is coming back, although it is coming slowly. Bradstreet's weekly review of Chicago trade reported today.

The summary was given a national aspect by the information obtained from between 5,000 and 6,000 buyers at the Merchandise Mart's spring meeting and the annual automobile show.

"The consensus is that business conditions are slowly coming back and that prospects are for a fair business for the spring," the report said. "Automobile makers are obtaining good orders."

President Hoover in his call to the American people to enlist in a national patriotic anti-hoarding campaign stressed that $1,300,000,000 should be taken out of hiding and put into sound banks or conservative investments.

The White House was sending out invitations today for the national anti-hoarding conference to be held here Saturday. Leaders of practically every business, agricultural, labor, religious, patriotic, educational and trade organizations will be invited.

Housewives Here Anticipate Fine Cooking School

Popular sanctoin of the Brainerd Daily Dispatch's free cooking school from housewives throughout all parts of Brainerd and immediate vicinity has caused The Daily Dispatch to secure the most spacious quarters in the city for the four day school next week beginning Tuesday.

Realizing the importance of such home economics lectures as will be given by Mrs. Frances Northcross, authority on culinary arts, the Brainerd Board of Education cooperated with The Daily Dispatch last night by permitting the use of the Washington high school auditorium for the afternoon demonstrations and lectures.

The cooking school is anxiously awaited by housewives and maidens alike who fully comprehend the educational benefits by such instructions as Mrs. Northcross will advance. Even the spacious quarters of the auditorium seating approximately 1,000 will be taxed judging from the popular advance reception of the school.

"Good food properly prepared insures good health" has become the theme for the four sessions of school, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Daily Dispatch is sponsoring the school does so for the sole benefit of St. Paul, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Appointment of Andrew Mellon as ambassador to England and promotion of Ogden Mills to the post of secretary of the treasury are just two more reasons why Minnesota will be written in the republican column next November, Walter H. Newton, secretary to President Hoover, said today.

PHOTOGRAPH AREA IN EFFORT TO LOCATE MISSING AIR LINER

Los Angeles, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—The entire north side of the Tehachapi mountains, between the Ridge route and Tejon ranch, was to be photographed from the air today in an attempt to discover the spot where a Century-Pacific air liner, with its pilot and seven passengers, were lost six days ago. The plane had been heard there of the plane's disappearance. No Indians had been in the town for several days, they said.

Immediate plans were made to map photographically the territory between the Tehachapi summit at Lebec and the grapevine territory east to the Tejon ranch in the hope that the camera would detect what human eyes could not.

Apparently authoritative reports that Indians near Caliente, Kern county, had seen the plane fall in the hills there last Friday, were proven unfounded today by sheriff's officers who visited the town, to learn that no organized for hundreds injured and the thousands left homeless by Wednesday's earth shocks.

The official death toll remained at 12 and was not expected to exceed 20. Injured were estimated at about 500.

Property damage resulting from the earthquake in Santiago de Cuba was estimated at between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000, in a report to the state department today from Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim. He said a large part of the city's business section undoubtedly must be demolished and rebuilt.

The Cuban house of representatives and senate at Havana met in special session to pass a bill giving Santiago credit of $1,000,000 for relief. The governor was instructed to establish field kitchens to feed refugees at government expense.

The American consulate was damaged but none of the staff was injured. Among buildings most seriously affected were the ancient cathedral, the modern Venus, the law college, customs house, municipal hospital, provincial jail, the San Carlos club, and the Swift building.

Five hundred prisoners from the jail were marched out of the ruined structure and transferred to Havana. The nearest approach to a stampede occurred among the jail inmates. The prisoners shrieked and yelled to be released, fearing fire after walls began to crumble. There were no disorders connected with the transfer of the prisoners who were held until troops arrived.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING FLARES ANEW; DEFENDERS FOREIGN SETTLEMENTS HOLD BATTLE FRONT

92 Million Persons Now Under Jap Flag

Behind Japan's vast war machine is a tiny cluster of islands, constituting Old Japan, whose area in square miles is slightly smaller than that of the state of Nevada. There are 91,000 people in Nevada. There are approximately 60,000,000 people in overcrowded Old Japan, or just about half the population of the United States by comparison.

THE JAPANESE EMPIRE AT A GLANCE—The black portion belongs to Japan, the shaded portion in Manchuria—in the vicinity of her leased South Manchuria railway concession—is dominated by her troops. The original empire consisted of the four grouped islands, though old Hokkaido has always been sparsely populated. Formosa was acquired from China by the war of 1895; Korea, Japanese Sakhalin, the Kwantung peninsula at Port Arthur, and also the South Manchurian railway concession, were acquired from Russia by the war of 1904-05. As the densely populated island kingdom must draw on the Asiatic mainland for its food, it could be starved by a naval blockade; hence, Japan's powerful navy.

Here is what the latest population records show:

Japan proper	64,450,000
Korea	21,058,305
Formosa	4,594,161
Jap. Sakhalin	221,243

The total area of Japan and all its possessions is 377,915 square miles. The total area of continental United States is a little more than 3,000,000 miles and the total U. S. population approximately 120,000,000.

SUNKEN SUB, TOMB OF CREW 60, FOUND IN 108 FEET WATER

Portland, Eng., Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Divers studied plans for raising the submarine M-2 today, discovered in the wreck-struck dead man's bay lying alongside a German U boat sunk during the world war.

The M-2 had been missing since Jan. 26.

The cause of the disaster had not been determined nor had divers learned how many of the 60 men aboard the submarine when she dived for the last time still were inside.

The M-2 was found about 0.8 miles off Portland Bill, where divers had inspected four wrecks within a radius of a quarter of a mile 24 hours after the submarine disappeared.

The M-2 was lying in 108 feet of water.

CHINESE RESIST JAPANESE ATTACKS WITH SURPRISING SUCCESS

BULLETIN! Washington, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—The state department today received from Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes in Tokio a message giving the "substance" of the Japanese reply to the British-American peace proposals. Forbes was handed the reply in Japanese. This was accompanied by an English translation. He has not yet transmitted the full text to Washington.

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press) Shanghai, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Entering the Yangtze river today aboard the Japanese steamer Dairen Maru from North China, I witnessed the Japanese naval bombardment of the Woosung forts.

After passing a Japanese airplane carrier and a supply ship, the Dairen

CHINESE WOMEN IN TRENCHES

Shanghai, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Women soldiers in the Chinese army were discovered holding a trench on the Shanghai-Woosung front in an inactive sector today.

Reporters attempting to follow the river road to Woosung forts below Shanghai encountered the camouflaged trench held by a dozen women equipped with ancient rifles.

Maru anchored a mile from eight warships bombarding the forts.

Three light cruisers and five gunboats spouted flame steadily until 1 p. m. Airplanes directed the fire. The Chinese batteries responded feebly. Their shells reached hardly halfway to the Japanese warships.

About 1 p. m. the forts were silenced. The firing ceased.

Meanwhile, dozens of ships of all nationalities had assembled, awaiting the finish of the bombardment. A British gunboat lay directly behind the Japanese.

Japs Launch Move

Shanghai, Friday, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Terrific fighting was resumed on the north station battle front at 1 a. m. today after a lull of six hours in the battle during which the blazing ruins of Chapel were the only signs of warfare.

Foreign military observers believed the Japanese had launched a final effort to dislodge the Chinese, who have been resisting them with surprising success.

Defenders of the foreign settlement held their positions alertly, fearing the possibility that the Chinese if routed, would attempt to rush the gates of the settlement.

After the lull of the night, firing was resumed on the north station front at 12:30 a. m. and half an hour later was at its height again.

Evacuate Sectors

Washington, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Admiral M. M. Taylor, commanding American naval forces at Shanghai, advised the navy department by radio today that all Japanese patrols have evacuated American and British defense sectors, "thus easing the situation greatly."

At the same time Taylor reported that bombardment had been resumed on the Woosung forts by Japanese cruisers and destroyers.

In a later message Taylor said his flagship, the heavy cruiser Houston, had sighted a Japanese naval force of three cruisers, one destroyer and an aircraft tender south of Woosung under command of Vice Admiral Nomura.

Shanghai, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Japanese marines rushed strong reinforcements into the front lines today in a desperate effort to block a furious Chinese offensive which threatened to overwhelm them.

The Japanese prepared for a counter-offensive to throw back Chinese shock troops who had claimed victories over a wide front. The Chinese reported they had trapped two battalions of Japanese marines.

Tokio, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—The government today published its identical replies rejecting two points in the proposals of world powers for peace in China, the second and fifth points.

The replies were handed to the United States Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes, and the British Ambassador Sir Francis Lindley at 3 a. m. C.S.T.

Boston Hears Smith Will Be Candidate

Boston, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—The Boston Herald said today that Alfred E. Smith had given "definite assurances" to Boston friends that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president.

Smith's position probably will be announced next Wednesday, says The Herald, and in it "he will say that he intends to place his cause in the hands of the people and risk his chances without an active campaign."

On Saturday afternoon, February 6, the Brainerd Musical club sponsors its fifth concert of the present season. The performers are known as the Liege quartet, of string instruments. The concert will be at the high school auditorium.

The Liege Quartet is one of the best string quartets on tour and critics have been unanimous in proclaiming the unity of spirit exhibited and the unparalleled ensemble of the members of the group. The individual training of each member has brought each one the highest distinctions. This quartet was organized in 1902 and due to long association the players' interpretations are sympathetic in works of the classic, romantic and modern periods.

The players are native Belgians. The group is comprised of:

P. T. A. OFFICERS, TEACHERS INVITED TO LUNCHEON; ANNUAL MEET, CONCERT ARRANGED

The courtesy committee of the Brainerd Musical club has arranged for a luncheon to be served at the high school cafeteria, under the direction of Miss Bertha Fink, on Saturday February 6, at 1 o'clock promptly.

Besides being open to all members of the Musical club, the officers of all the Parent-Teachers organizations in the city and county and all teachers are specially invited to this luncheon. Miss Mary Tornstrom will speak on "Education" and there will also be other items of interest and an announcement of importance. It is to be a special occasion in the interest of education.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. Henry I. Cohen at the Ransford hotel or Mrs. A. C. Weber at her home not later than Friday morning.

All who attend the luncheon, whether members of the musical club or not, are invited to be guests at the concert by the Liege String Quartet, at 3:00 o'clock, in the high school auditorium. The four musicians who comprise this quartet are natives of the Belgian city of Liege, and all belonged to that famous school of the Conservatoire Royal. Their individual training was dominated by a harmonious spirit that helped the perfection of tone shading and of expression.

In every regard this group has achieved the reputation of exemplifying the best traditions of quartet playing.

There will be the annual election of officers and other business at the Saturday meeting, so all members are requested to be in their seats in the high school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock thereby allowing one half hour for these matters before the concert begins.

CYCLING DANGEROUS IN WINTER---

Kiding of bicycles in winter, particularly when snow and ice cover the streets, is a dangerous practice. It is courting accidents and possible serious injuries as the footing of the narrow-tread tire on the icy surface is very treacherous and unsafe.

Motorists have registered this complaint and justly too. It is not only dangerous to the rider of the bicycle but motorists who find someone riding ahead of them on a bicycle are harassed by the thought of what would happen should the bicycle skid throwing its rider under the wheels of the car or truck.

Parents should exercise their authority and prohibit their children from riding bicycles in the winter time. Of course, there must be some, postoffice messengers, telegraph messengers, but they, too, can co-operate to make the streets safe for motorists.

Kiding of bicycles in winter time is a hazard that can be eliminated. Let's forget about the two-wheel vehicles until spring and make the streets of Brainerd devoid of any accident scene.

HOPE FOR THE FARMER---

In a recent address, David Lawrence, the well-known political journalist and editor of the United States Daily, said that the present transition of agriculture from an unorganized to an organized basis, constitutes the most hopeful feature of the present agricultural situation.

The co-operative movement is growing to a remarkable degree, not only in scope but in strength. There are now about 12,000 co-operative associations in the country, with a total membership of about 2,000,000 farmers. They did a business of $2,400,000, 600 last year—an increase of $100,000,000 over 1920.

Thus, in spite of present depressed conditions, agriculture should be optimistic for the future. The day the first co-operative started was a red letter day in the history of farming. And the day the last group of unorganized farmers join together for mutual benefit, the farmer will have reached the goal for which the more progressive members of his industry are working. The time when a man could stand alone in his business dealings is past. He must join with his fellows in the same endeavor, so that all may prosper and find a sound market for what they have to sell.

WASHINGTON'S SACRIFICES---

Golden Book magazine, in its current issue, reprints the letters which George Washington wrote to Martha Washington when the Continental Congress made him commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary armies; and it is extremely interesting to notice that the step filled him with "inexpressible concern," so that he wrote his wife that "I should enjoy more real happiness in one month with you at home than I have the most distant prospect of finding abroad."

That sticks in one's mind, not only because it shows just how the man felt about the responsibility that was given him, but also because it proves, once more, that the man to whom a great job is given is not, usually, able to concern himself with his private happiness.

Washington had to sacrifice much to fight and win the Revolution. He won immortality, but he gave up things for which his country, grateful as it might be, could never repay him.

GAGGING HISTORY---

One measure now pending before Congress which needs to be snowed under is the bill introduced by Representative Mouser of Ohio, which would impose a $1000 fine and a year in jail on anyone who disseminates printed matter "defaming" the memory of a dead person.

The obvious result of this, of course, would be to emasculate history. What historian could tell the truth about the acts of public men, with such a threat hanging over his head? What biographer could do justice to such figures as Jim Fisk, for instance, or Daniel Drew? How could such governmental scandals as those of the Grant and Harding administrations be discussed plainly and clearly?

Existing laws are ample to deal with scurrilous literature. This law would simply gag the honest historian and biographer.

MECHANIZED CIVILIZATION---

Professor Clifford C. Furnas, of the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale, repeated the other day the old prediction that civilization will eventually become so thoroughly mechanized and intelligently operated that the ordinary man will have a working day only two or three hours long.

Hand in hand with this, he said, will come steady employment and high wages, with annuity provisions which will protect the sick and the aged. He added that this forecast is no pipe dream but a sober prediction based on "an engineer's consideration of various scientific and sociological facts."

It is a charming vision, certainly; and it is one of the things that make the present depressions so hard to endure. To stumble along with unemployment, poverty and hunger in a world which has the capacity for achieving such a Utopian scheme of things—is it not a painful and ironic mockery?

LEGISLATIVE APATHY---

State legislatures, being dominated by lawyers, are apathetic toward proposals for the improvement of criminal procedure, and seldom display any interest in projects for removing the technicalities and delays from the path of justice, says George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission.

Mr. Wickersham, who made this statement at a meeting of the American Law Institute in Chicago the other day, intimated that this apathy might arise because so many of the lawyer-politicians have extensive practices in the criminal courts, and find all of these technicalities very helpful to them.

This is something that the ordinary layman has often suspected; not often, however, does the charge come from so eminent an authority. It is a matter that the American Bar Association, and its subsidiary bodies, ought to consider very earnestly and carefully.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday,
Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN and CECILY FENWICK have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, MARY-FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "ROSALIE" and "GRAND." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry PHIL, ER. ROYD, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves HARRY WICKER, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, believes herself in love with EARL DEARMON, a vaudeville actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his store partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears BETTY KING, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going about with KENNETH SMITH, rich and attractive.

Mary-Frances agrees to go away with DE ARMON. The same day Cecily quarrels with her grandfather and drives away with Barry in his car.

Kenneth Smith asks Ann to marry him and she refuses. She comes home to find a note saying her grandparents have gone to spend the day with friends. At 6:00 Cecily arrives with news that she and Barry are to be married that evening.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIII MRS. HILL was sitting in a wicker chair on the front porch reading the evening paper. Ermintrude was on the steps with a book in her lap. Mr. Hill and Uncle Chaney were in the yard bending over the lawn mower which was turned upside down between them. The four persons and the green lawn, and the white house, and the pink rose hedge composed neatly into an attractive picture of suburban home life. Nothing seemed lacking.

Mrs. Hill looked over the edge of her paper, and smiled and stood, and held out her hand, and said, "Good evening, Miss Fenwick. I'm so glad to see you. Take this chair, won't you? Honey, bring out another chair for mother."

"No, thank you," Ann said. "I can't stay. I'm in a hurry, rather I came for Mary-Frances."

"Mary-Frances?" Mrs. Hill questioned, more as if she had never heard the name before than as if Ann had said she had come for Bonnie Prince Charlie.

"Yes, I want her to come home with me."

"But, Miss Fenwick, Mary-Frances isn't here. She hasn't been here since this afternoon."

"Oh," said Ann dully, not as an exclamation. "But—she said she was coming here. She brought Cecily's bag. She—she must be here. I mean—but, then, where in the world is she?"

"Why I don't know, I'm sure. We asked her to stay for dinner, and she said she couldn't. That your grandfather was ill and that she was needed at home."

"Well, But—she's too big to get lost. Ermintrude, do you know where Mary-Frances is?"

Ermintrude slumped; her neck disappeared as her stomach collapsed. She seemed at the same time to be squirming away from herself and to be dwindling, wriggling, as it were, down into herself. "Stop acting like that, Ermintrude," Mrs. Hill said, "and answer at once. Do you know where Mary-Frances is?"

Ermintrude muttered, "Ann leaned close. 'She says,' she construed for Mrs. Hill, 'that, in a way, she does.'"

"That's enough of that, now. Ermintrude. You will please answer at once. Where is Mary-Frances?"

Ermintrude moistened her lips. She swallowed. "I—well, I guess I couldn't help it, could I? She sloped."

"Sloped? Sloped?" said Ann, hunting a place for it, seeking a definition, pushing her fingers through her hair.

"E-loped," pronounced Ermintrude distinctly. "E-loped off with a girl."

Ann took her fingers from the shoulders and took her hands and put them back and forth. "No, no, no. She couldn't. She's a baby. She couldn't. Why do you say such a thing? No, no—"

Mrs. Hill went down the steps and put an arm around Ann. "Don't, dear," she said. "Joe," she called, across the lawn. "Joe—come here, Joe. Come. Come quickly—Joe."

Joe came bounding. He expected to put out the fire, to grab the murderer and robber, and to rescue his wife and his daughter. In 17 years of married life only once before had he heard Trudie's voice go insane.

ON her way home, in Mr. Hill's car, Ann listened to him telling her again that if Mary-Frances and that dirty cur were at Blumount there would be no damage done as long as they managed to keep it out of the papers. If her sister Cecily and her friend found the child at Blumount, he did hope they would follow his advice and simply bring her home and let the man go. It would be the only way to avoid publicity, and publicity must be avoided.

She said, "Yes, Mr. Hill. Barry and Cecily thought so, too," and listened to what Ermintrude had said a few minutes before.

"No, they weren't going to get married for a while. He couldn't, on account of his father's will. I don't know. Several months she said. They were just going on their honeymoon and then on the stage. I guess it will be all right. Mary-Frances really loved him. Mother. She really loved him deeply and truly."

"Be still with that, Ermintrude. Will you? Answer daddy, now. Is that all you know about where they were going? Positively everything? Stop crying and answer me. Blumount tonight? You are sure of that?"

Cecily's voice, stricken, over the telephone. "Barry's just come. We'll start at once. Three hours head start. Dear Lord, Ann!"

For an instant, Barry's voice. "We'll find them, Ann. Don't worry. We'll tear the place down, if necessary. Mr. Hill is right about keeping it quiet, though."

"But suppose," Ann said, again, to Mr. Hill, "that they didn't go to Blumount. Suppose he said that just to mislead us?"

"In that case, I suppose we'll have to go to the police. Gosh knows what good they'll do. Perhaps I'll be able to think of someone who has influence enough to keep it out of the papers, if we do have to go to the police."

"Really, I—I don't care about the papers. Neither did Cissy, until Barry thought we should. I—I'd much rather call in the police right away."

"MISS FENWICK, we have to care. What can the police do, now? Watch the highways—but they left at 4 and we aren't positive as to the direction. I'll find his garage and discover what make of car he was driving. I'll go to his rooming house—I may be able to pick up some information there, and around the theater. If he's half as big a fool as he looked, he has probably told where he was bound for, eventually. Uncle Chaney seemed to think that the desk in Denver might be a lead. He may get trace of them at the service stations on that highway."

"Then—you don't believe they will be at Blumount?"

"I hope so with all my heart. But, remember this, Miss Fenwick, sooner or later we'll find her. I'm not a rich man, but every cent I can rake and scrape will go into it—if it needs to. Yes, yes, indeed, I am responsible. I am deeply responsible. Trudie and I reared Ermintrude—"

"No, Mr. Hill. For that matter, so have we reared Mary-Frances."

"You are nothing but girls yourselves—busy girls away from home all day. And your grandparents are—well, that is to say, they are very old."

He stopped the car on the driveway in front of the door and said, as Ann stepped out of it, "I'll telephone to you the minute I hear anything at all. Uncle Chaney will phone if he hears anything. Don't break down now. Don't give up hope."

"I wish," said Ann, "that there were something I could do—anything, besides just waiting for telephone calls. Something. Anything."

"Pray, pray hard. And if you have any friends you can trust, absolutely, to keep their mouths shut now and always, phone them and have them go scouting about on the highways as Uncle Chaney is doing. If they stopped for gas—something to eat—anything, we may get a line. The sooner we can get it the better. I'll find out about his car the first thing and let you know. Then you can tell your friends that much, at least, along with the description of that dirty cur and Mary-Frances. A brown striped suit, remember. A blue coat, and a blue dress with smocking."

"Yes. A blue dress. I did the smocking."

Ann went into the house and into the dining room and sat down in a chair, which she had put directly under the telephone, and rubbed her right fist into the damp palm of her left hand, and waited.

THE telephone bell.

"Miss Fenwick? This is Joe Hill speaking. The car is a 1928 sports model Thysler, repainted yellow with green trimmings. No news as yet, as I suppose?"

"A 1928 sports model Thysler repainted yellow with green trimmings. No, not a word. Not a word from anyone."

"Too soon yet to hear, you know. Keep up heart. I'll call you again, later. I'm going to see his landlady now, and to the theater."

Ann dialed a number and asked for Mr. Philip Ecroyd. Just a moment please, Mr. Ecroyd did not answer.

Ann dialed another number Mr. Kenneth Smith was not at home.

Ann waited.

The telephone bell.

"Miss Fenwick? This is Ermintrude's mother. I don't want to keep your line busy for more than a moment, but Ermintrude says that he has been begging Mary-Frances to go with him for a month now, and that once he promised to treat her like a 'pal'."

Mrs. Hill seemed to spit at the word as she pronounced it—"and, another time, like a brother."

"Oh," said Ann. "Once."

"But, I know," said Mrs. Hill. "But, I don't want to hear, remember, we're right with you. We'll do everything, everything in our power. Dear, I can't tell you how sorry—But we'll find her. We will, now. Goodbye."

Ann waited.

The telephone bell.

"Hello, Miss Fenwick. This is Joe Hill again. I've caught his landlady at last—she's been out for a walk. She says he did have a desk in his room, and that she heard him say he had to return to Denver. It was in his room yesterday and gone today. So Denver does seem to be one lead."

"But, Mr. Hill, Blumount is south. If they were going to Denver, then—then Blumount is hopeless."

The Open Forum

To the Editor Daily Dispatch:

Thanking you for the privilege of expressing my opinion in relation to game and fish.

It has aroused considerable interest, C. M. Brandon, having answered my statement makes a suggestion which I would like to answer, about taxes and the value of summer property located on lakes, etc.

I will state that the question of taxes and value of property, both local and lake shore, is shared both by local residents and non residents alike and we all expect to pay our share of the taxes as per the value of same. In reference to consulting the prominent merchants and gasoline filling stations, I will state that I operate a gasoline filling station myself on a busy corner and I get my share of the patronage. I did not say that the tourists leave no money here, because they have to pay for what they get certainly, and all filling stations and other business have to give prompt service and patronage plus in order to get patronage from either tourists or locals.

The tourists get free information and locals also and we are very thankful for their patronage always. But, when you bring the contribution both into the subject of game and fish as to the tourists being able to put in a dollar as against what local patronage can afford to contribute to said churches you place me at a great disadvantage. I can only say that if the tourists are more liberal in supporting the churches as you say it must be because they felt they get value received. Now in reference to the statement about the game hog and poachers and illegal fishing. You might give me the definition of a game and fish hog as it pertained to the right to enjoy the Fruits of the Earth and the game and fish as per the Christian view.

The almighty God as I understand it gave the human race of people all of the fruits, game and fish, deer and other beasts to control and dispose of without any licenses or restrictions of any kind except being wasteful. Therefore it cannot be sinful or illegal to partake of same at any time in order to provide food for mankind. You surely don't mean to say that the local game wardens are all cowards? It is a position that requires a great deal of intelligence in my opinion and places a game warden in a delicate situation some times.

And, just because a person is caught taking fish or game to provide food for himself and family, that does not give anyone the right to call them liars and thieves. "He that calleth his brother a liar is in danger of Hell's fire." There is nothing in the ten commandments about restrictions and licenses on taking game or fish. Then why the wrath?

I am sorry I cannot agree with Mr. C. M. Brandon on several of his statements, especially on the game and fish subject. Men like Mr. I. P. Bakken and Mr. Dan Chord, I can't. They are broadminded and like to see everyone get a square deal. There are plenty of them in this immediate vicinity if they will only get interested. I will write another letter soon about the fish propagation system and the misuse of the public cash in reference thereto.

Ass't. U. S. Attorney Turns Counterfeiter to Obtain Conviction of Iowa Fake Money Artist

Winona, Minn., Feb. 4.—(AP)—A local photographer today revealed how George A. Heisey, first assistant United States attorney, turned counterfeiter to obtain a conviction against Otis Spencer, Logan, Ia., on three charges of counterfeiting.

Spencer was arrested by federal authorities after two confederates who acted as his "passers" confessed they obtained their bogus money from him. From experience with Spencer, Heisey knew that it would be difficult to prove counterfeiting against Spencer because he used an obscure method that did not require dies or other paraphernalia.

Defense witnesses last week, including experts in printink and photo-engraving, testified it would be impossible for Spencer to manufacture currency by the method, Heisey charged.

Heisey, with the aid of Edward M. Weeks, expert from the bureau of engraving in Washington, took over the photographer's shop Sunday. All day he experimented with sensitized paper and paints.

When court resumed Monday, Heisey presented the results of his experiments, which the experts admitted were better imitations than those produced by Spencer. Spencer was convicted and sentenced to 30 years and fined $2,000.

Honor Staples Priest for Nineteen Years' Service

Staples—Rev. Father Zitrus, who for nineteen years has been pastor of the Staples Catholic church, was the guest of honor at a banquet given him last night in the K. of C. hall here. The banquet was in the nature of a farewell as he leaves this week to take charge of the parish at Clear Lake, Minn. Father Zitrus has had the honor of serving the Clear Lake parish before, it being the second parish he ever served. He came from Clear Lake to Staples.

There was scarcely a dry eye in the auditorium Sunday when Father Zitrus announced his intention to sever the relationship that he had had with the local church. The different organizations of the church presented him with tokens of esteem for which he is held in high by the church but by the townspeople also.

U. S. Excels Japan in Air and on Sea, But Army is Smaller

These sketches show comparative strength of the armies, navies and air forces of the United States and Japan. The United States has a superior air force and a heavier navy, but the Japanese army is a much larger standing army.

The combined air fleets of the American army and navy total approximately 2500 planes and 27,000 men, compared with 1500 planes and 16,000 men in the Japanese air corps.

The American navy is decidedly superior on a tonnage basis, chiefly because of its 16 battleships. Japan has only 10.

The Japanese standing army of 230,000 dwarfs America's force of 137,472, but the actual war strength of either nation is problematical, in view of Japan's compulsory military training and the United States' National Guard and reserve power.

MUSEUM HERE KEEPS ALIVE HISTORICAL AREA BACKGROUND

ROOMS IN COURT HOUSE AWAIT FORMAL OPENING TO PUBLIC'S INSPECTION

(By Mrs. Sarah E. Heald)

The tireless energy and enthusiasm which Henry I. Cohen has given to the establishing of the Historical Society's museum in the new quarters must have infected those who have been helping him. The results were justly the county commissioners in allowing when so much space in the basement of the new courthouse for housing their collection.

The large, well-lighted, well-heated room, on the northeast corner, has been transformed into a place of such beauty and interest that the county, as well as the society, may well be proud of it. We predict that it will attract many visitors, and that the museum collection will be rapidly augmented when the people of the county understand the nature and value of the project.

The collection has been arranged in four groups, each occupying one corner or section of the room. The first section is devoted to books, maps, pictures and records, the collection and preservation of which is the work of most importance for these local societies, according to Theodore C. Blom of the state organization. A large photograph of the founder of the society, the late Leon E. Lum, dominates this section, and the fine old desk bequeathed the society by Mrs. Lum occupies a conspicuous position.

The section beyond is devoted to "old tools, implements and firearms." Here the old ox-cart and windlass, used in early logging operations and described at length in previous articles in the "Dispatch," are most conspicuous and highly-prized among the exhibits. A complete collection of the tools and furnishings of old-time logging camps, even to the tin tableware and the "Copenhagen," has been recently donated by the Northwest Paper Co., through the courtesy of R. D. Musser, of Little Falls. Many a clumsy, outgrown tool and firearm appears on the walls, shelves and around the floor of this section, the contributions of various residents of the county. One finds Carl Wright's name as donor appearing frequently on the carefully prepared labels that accompany each exhibit, and we learn that he has been one of Mr. Cohen's most enthusiastic assistants.

On a long wall back of this section a collection of photographs of pioneer residents is forming, and on the end wall pictures connected with the logging, railroad and street railway enterprises. In time, these pictures will become invaluable, and one is glad to note that they are housed in quarters as nearly fireproof as is possible to make them.

In the Indian section there is much to excite interest and admiration. The C. M. Taylor collection, the Mrs. A. D. Polk collection and the George Erickson ("Tribune") collection are generously represented; the latter, recently contributed by Mrs. L. E. Erickson, occupies a large table in the center. Here, a red velvet curtain that once hung in Col. Freeman Thorp's library, are shown some gorgeous examples of Indian beadwork, from the Hudson Bay country and the northwest angle. There are two old copper tea pails, originating with the Jesuit missionaries, which were dug from the sand of an island in Lake-of-the-Woods.

Mrs. A. J. Forsythe's beautifully beaded Blackfoot cradle, the framed house study of an Indian which is Dan Whitney's gift, and Mrs. R. M. Sheet's braided birch-bark floor mat, made by "Laughing Mary" of the Vermillion reservation, are shown to good advantage on the walls in this section. A small glass case contains more bead work; some old coins dug up at the old trading post site at Crow Wing, by Frank Prosser of that vicinity; the key to the "Gabitawegima" mission, gift of Clarence Converse; and a fine example of Zuni Indian pottery, sent from Chicago by Miss Emma Schoenmann. Three well known "old-timers" are here represented. G. H. Keen contributes a souvenir of some ancient battle between the Sioux and the Chippewas, and a worn old pipe which he found wrapped in birch-bark and half buried under an old canoe at "Hole-in-the-Day's" place, between Round and Long lakes, many years ago. Jake Paine's gift is the carved, flat stem of a peace-pipe which he has had in his possession more than fifty years. And George West's are a fine, shell bead necklace and a Chippewa drum which came into his possession at the time of the Bear Island fight, in 1898. James Tinkelpaugh has pledged a fine birch-bark canoe for this section, to be installed later. This, with the arrowheads, stone hammers, pottery fragments, etc., will make a pretty comprehensive collection of this class of exhibits.

Because to the pioneer wife and another fell some of the hardest and most important tasks of developing new communities, the society has most appropriately dedicated one section to "Pioneer Women and Their Homes." From the Emily, Outing and Cross Lake region has been sent, as a special loan for this opening of the museum, beautiful hand made quilts and coverlets, and a little old German spinning wheel. "Grandma Chapman's" dear little black velvet bonnets and a fine old brass warming pan top the glass show case which displays varying types of fine handwork, delicate fans, and pretty porcelain. On an old black walnut dining table are shown more porcelains. Miss Maud Huestis has been a generous contributor to this department. And Mrs. E. T. Flosser has sent an interesting picture of Past Mothers of the Eastern Star, of which her mother was one. There is a pretty picture of Miss Hartley, the gift of Mrs. Maria Shipp, and one of Mrs. Carrie Grandemeyer, loaned by Mrs. Rose Parker. Here, too, a collection of photos of early homes of the county has begun to form.

The museum will be formally opened Friday evening of this week, and it will remain open Saturday and Sunday, from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. Thereafter it will be opened regularly, at least once a week. It is to be hoped that many will avail themselves of opportunity to visit it.

homes in Brainerd and vicinity, to simplify the every day cookery problem and add to the family meals.

Success of the school will be a reward to The Daily Dispatch's efforts and expense in providing this educational feature for Brainerd.

Gifts will be given away each day. The doors of the auditorium will open at 1 p. m. and the daily lecture will begin at 2 p. m. Those attending are requested to bring pencil and notebook to jot down the important messages and advice of Mrs. Northers.

The Dispatch feels that no woman in Brainerd and community can afford to miss the school. There will be no charge of admission or any expense to the housewife in attending any and all of the lectures.

AGGRESSIVE STAPLES QUINT BATTLES WARRIORS TOMORROW

VISITORS SERIOUS THREAT FOR B. H. S. AGAIN THIS SEASON

STAPLES COMES TO CITY WITH RECORD OF 11 WINS AND ONE DEFEAT

Brainerd's Warriors will meet in the Staples quint here tomorrow night a team that has caused in previous tournaments a high hurdle to reach the finals and will be equally as difficult to clear this year.

The Staples team comprises aggressive players who will fight through to the last second of play to gain a victory. They are particularly difficult to overcome in tournament play, losing in the last three tournaments to Brainerd by narrow margins.

Coach Bill Dammann will use his strongest quint to start off the game in the hope of grabbing an early lead. The team will enter the fray in the same spirit as if the teams were clashing in a vital tournament game.

Staples, trounced by Crosby-Ironton recently, has learned a great deal from that defeat. Previously the team scored eleven straight victories without a defeat.

While the varsity plays here, the second team will play Pequot on the latter's floor.

Only two out of the city games remain in the season's schedule for Brainerd, at Bemidji, Feb. 12, and at Crosby, Feb. 26.

After the Staples game Brainerd will play on its home floor these games: Pine River, Feb. 10; Little Falls, Feb. 16; Wadena, Feb. 19.

Bob Wylie will be out of the Brainerd lineup in tomorrow night's game. His position at guard will be filled either by Heikkinen, Gabiou or Garvey.

Elmer Foster suffered a sprained ankle in last night's practice and may not be in the lineup.

The main game will start at 8:30 p. m., preceded by a preliminary between the seconds of Aitkin and a reserve Brainerd team.

Plaisted of Eveleth will referee the second game.

GAMES PRELUDE TO SUMMER EVENTS IN LOS ANGELES IN JULY

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—More than 350 strong, the world's finest men and women of winter sports—men and women who best know how to get the maximum in speed, danger, thrills and grace from ice and snow—marched into the gale-whipped stadium here today for the opening of the third Olympic winter games.

These games will serve as a prelude to the summer games at Los Angeles in July, marking the first time

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Jack Shea, of the United States, won the 500 meter speed skating race, the first event of the winter Olympic program which opened here today.

This country has played host to any sort of Olympic competition since the St. Louis gathering in 1904.

Mother Nature, treacherous as a siren these last few months, offering sunshine and rain instead of the expected snow and ice, apparently has repented, for the opening day of the games broke clear and bitter cold.

Promptly at 10:30 o'clock the athletes, grouped alphabetically by nations and with the 17 delegation flags, bearing the flags of their nations, were to march onto the ice of the stadium and the reviewing stand, to the strains of anthems of their countries.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was to declare the games formally opened. Plans from then on were for cannons to roar their salute down the blanketed valleys, bugles to sound their sharp call and then as the five circled Olympic flag was slowly raised to the top of the stadium masthead, Governor Roosevelt was to administer the Olympic oath.

Then the ice was cleared in preparation for the 500-meter speed skate races. This event will be run in three heats, the first two finishers in each heat to qualify for the final.

Frank Stack of Canada won the first heat, with Jack Shea of Lake Placid second. Stack's time was 44.3.

Bernt Evensen of Norway won the second heat, beating out William Logan of Canada by a few feet. Ray Murray, U. S. star, finished in third place, inches behind Logan. The time was 45.3.

Canada placed another man in the finals when Alexander Hurd took the third heat. John O'Neil Farrell of the U. S. was second by a yard. Allen Potts, ranked as one of the fastest of the U. S. skaters, failed to qualify, finishing third. Hurd's time was 44.9.

TAUGHT HERSELF

Jacksonville, Fla.—A case of the teacher being taught appeared before Judge L. M. Anderson. The teacher was a woman who, according to her testimony, decided to get drunk in order to teach her husband a lesson. "I thought if he could see me drunk he wouldn't drink any more," she explained. She succeeded in getting drunk, but the result was that she and friend hubby had a fight. The uproar brought police and caused her arrest. She learned the lesson instead of the husband.

BAND LEADER PREPARES FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

London, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Jack London, a negro jazz pianist, is training hard for the Los Angeles Olympic games in August.

Jack is a sprinter. He discovered that when another man missed a train. In 1925, he was representing London university against Bedfordshire in the high jump. His team's crack sprinter missed the train, so Jack substituted and astonished everyone by winning the 100 yards in 10 seconds on grass.

After that he concentrated on running. He was runner-up in the Olympic 100-meters at Amsterdam in 1928, and was England's 100-yard champion in 1929.

Colonel Winn stated that C. V. Whitney's record breaking filly, Top Flight, heads the list.

MERRIFIELD

Henry I. Cohen, Joe Heald, Frank Bane and Carl Wright stopped at Merrifield Monday on their way back from Cross Lake.

They had with them an old piece of machinery known as the "headworks" which was used in the early days by lumbermen to haul log booms across the big lakes. Supposed to be between 40 and 50 years old.

Paul Markee was in the state at the time. He said it was one of the oldest kind because it had the hand power sweep.

This old relic will be added to the collection for the Historical society.

Mrs. Sam Parker is ill with a cold. Isaac Van Doren went to Brainerd Saturday.

Mrs. Lottie Hollingsworth is ill.

DEMPSEY SIGNS TO BATTLE LEVINSKY IN CHICAGO FEB. 18

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey has signed for his first fight since he failed to defeat Gene Tunney in Soldier field, Chicago, in 1927.

Dempsey will meet King Levinsky, ranked No. 7 among the heavyweights by the National Boxing association, in a 4-round bout at the Chicago stadium Feb. 18, and 6-ounce gloves will be used if Levinsky will agree to them.

"This is going to be a fight," said Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's manager. "It will be an exhibition in name only. Dempsey is going to try to knock out Levinsky because of the tactics resorted to by his handlers. Dempsey has received 50 per cent of the receipts for all his appearances, but he had to cut his end to allow the Chicago stadium to meet Levinsky's demands. Dempsey is the drawing card, but Levinsky's handlers dictated terms as if Levinsky was the big attraction."

Levinsky has been guaranteed $7,500 with a privilege of 15 per cent of the gate receipts. Matchmaker Nate Lewis predicted today the Dempsey-Levinsky bout would sell out the stadium, attracting about 21,000 persons and about $55,000.

In taking on Levinsky, Dempsey will meet a ranking heavyweight for the first time since he began his exhibition tour in Reno, Nev., last August. Levinsky had Tommy Loughran on the floor three times in New York in December, defeated Paolino Uzcudun and lost to Max Baer in his last three bouts.

Favor Boxing Bills Giving 15-Round Bouts

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—The boxing bill legalizing 15-round heavy-weight championship bouts seemed likely today to be a law by the end of the week.

The house of legislature passed the bill yesterday by a vote of 110 to 0, and it was returned to the senate today for concurrence in amendments. The senate previously had passed the bill by a vote of 38 to 3. It is understood that Gov. Emmerson will sign the bill, which will raise the state tax from 10 to 15 per cent on 15-round bouts.

Passage of the bill will enable Chicago to bid for a big heavyweight bout in September and another in 1933 during the world's fair.

Staples Water Mains
Break in Cold Wave

Staples—"It is cold in Staples." The mercury kept falling until Sunday morning several thermometers registered as low as 27 below zero. This cold snap has registered a new low record for the present winter.

Of course water pipes have taken advantage of the low temperature, one breaking Saturday in a local filling station, and on Sunday morning a main on Third avenue, north, broke with the result that the water came up flooding the street with water, which was rapidly urned into a glare of ice.

RESEARCH REVEALS ALL-BRAN RICH IN HEALTH-ELEMENTS

Helps Correct Constipation with "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Has Iron

Recent scientific research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation. It has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements promote regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming? Just eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FRIENDLY CENTER GARMENTS NEEDED

The monthly business meeting of the Friendly Center committee was held Saturday with Mrs. W. H. Gemmell. During the month of January, 945 garments were given out. The applications for clothing represented 91 families. There were received 728 garments. Donors not already acknowledged are as follows: Mesdames A. Lovestad, Carney Peterson, R. Richards, R. Campbell, W. W. Bane, Parsons, McCollough, Zimmerman, Dr. Fredericks, Lammon, Templeton, Wm. Handeland, Ginsburg, Gemmell, Stout, Henry Bock, Fred Parker, Floyd Thompson, Robertson, Johnson, H. I. Cohen, Spellmeyer, Pete Ulfeth; the Misses Mabel Madsen, Viola Eourasse, Marie O'Brien; also the high school and Methodist church; also the O'Brien Mercantile Co. for the gift of a fine box of apples used during the social hour.

Due to the annual meeting of the Health Service society tomorrow the meeting of the Friendly Center will be postponed, to be resumed, as usual, Thursday. The Friendly Center is running short of garments with the coldest days of winter coming on.

The society is too busy on Tuesdays and Thursdays to receive contributions. The Center will be open for that purpose Monday afternoon, Feb. 8. All who can, please bring articles of clothing or old furniture to the court house at that time. Or at any time during office hours at the nurse's office, city hall. Where you wish articles called for, notify Mrs. Clausen. Workers will call for them next Monday morning. Church groups and neighborhood groups are urged to do all they can in stimulating this enterprise. Bedding is needed.
